

Dear Colleagues,

We are pleased to announce that Forbes magazine has ranked UCLA Health 25th in the country on its annual “Best Employers for Diversity” list – placing it in the top-fifth percentile nationwide.

The core values of diversity and inclusion are inseparable from our mission. We are proud of the efforts of our faculty, staff and leaders that allow UCLA Health to provide world-class patient care, research and education to a diverse community of patients, students and employees. This distinction, among many others, highlights the incredible teamwork that makes it all possible.

For its ranking, Forbes partnered with market research company Statista to survey 50,000 employees nationwide who work for companies that have at least 1,000 employees. Respondents rated their organizations across a range of diversity criteria, including age, gender, ethnicity, disability and sexual orientation equality. Employees who identified with a minority group also nominated companies other than their own to be recognized for workplace diversity. In addition to receiving the greatest number of recommendations, the companies ranked on Forbes’ top-500 list also had diverse executive boards and comprehensive diversity and inclusion programs.

To learn more about the ranking, click here.

We look forward to working with all of you to continue to promote diversity and inclusion throughout UCLA Health.

Thank you,

John C. Mazziotta, MD, PhD
Vice Chancellor,
UCLA Health Sciences
CEO, UCLA Health

Johnese Spisso, MPA
President, UCLA Health
CEO, UCLA Hospital System

Kelsey C. Martin, MD, PhD
Dean, David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA