LIVING IN LOS ANGELES

EXPLORE INCREDIBLE LOS ANGELES

Known for much more than the beach and sun, the city is a diverse hub of cultural events, gastronomic enticements, sports activities and outdoor life. You can mountain bike in Malibu Creek State Park, hike in Topanga Canyon, skate from Venice Beach to Temescal and back, even ski and surf on the same day. Go to a movie screening, an art opening, or night life in Hollywood.

If you’re a foodie, L.A. is the place for dim sum, Korean BBQ, and inventive cuisines that haven’t been “discovered” yet. Or just sit in the sun — in February — and sip coffee at an outdoor cafe. And on weekends, trips to Santa Barbara, San Diego, Las Vegas, and national parks like Sequoia-Kings Canyon or Joshua Tree in the desert are all just a few hours away.
