Repositioning in bed

Made at the request of UCLA Medical Center

Please consider patient’s medical condition, cognition and contraindications when choosing an assistive device. Contact Safe Patient Handling for any questions.

Does your patient have a BMAT score of 1 or 2, active wound or a high risk for skin injury due to shearing?

No

Is your patient a BMAT 3? (Able to assist with repositioning)

Yes

- Use AirTAP for repositioning if > 68 kg and unable to assist
- Use AirTAP XXL for bariatric patients > 136 kg and for taller patients > 6'0"
- Use TAP 2.0 for repositioning if < 68 kg

No

Is your patient a BMAT 4? (Independent)

Yes

- Use TAP 2.0 for repositioning

No

Yes

- No device needed

Contraindications
- Unstable spine
- Any medical contraindications assess by medical team

Refer to product packaging for complete instructions, warnings, and indications.

For more information, contact your Sage sales representative, Brandon Gwin at Brandon.Gwin@stryker.com or 213 248 4729

For SPH consultation or questions, contact:
(RR) Larona Taylor pgr 91136, (SMH) Liza Laurent pgr 94303

Prevalon® Turn and Position System (TAP) 2.0
Prevalon AirTAP® Patient Repositioning System
Prevalon AirTAP® XXL Patient Repositioning System

26164 © Stryker 2019