

UCLA Maternal & Child Health Center of Excellence presents

1ST ANNUAL NEAL HALFON PUBLIC HEALTH TRAINEE SYMPOSIUM

COMMUNITY

We aim to connect UCLA students with working professionals in the community to provide exposure to different career fields and opportunities within the field of public health.

RESEARCH

We aim to promote the research of UCLA students working within the field of public health and provide opportunities to get feedback from faculty and public health professionals.

INTERESTED?

Showcase your research

All UCLA Fielding students are encouraged to submit their work to be presented. Top submissions will be invited to give an oral presentation; all other accepted submissions will be poster presentations.

The deadline for abstract submission is March 1, 2024.
Acceptance notifications will be sent by April 1, 2024.

Network

All are invited to attend. We especially encourage faculty to come and support the student presenters.
