

Use the U Consent app to decide how you want your biological samples used

Now you can decide what happens to your leftover (biological) samples* and medical information. UCLA Health has created the U Consent app so you can decide if you want to share your leftover biological samples and medical information with researchers without sharing your identity. If you opt-in, you can also decide whether you would like to be contacted if there are any genetic findings that may affect your care.

The U Consent app is available on the bedside iPad provided to you in your hospital room. If you need a UCLA iPad please ask your care team to bring you one.

Follow these easy steps:

1. Click on the U Consent icon.
2. Enter your medical record number, select the year you were born, and enter initials to verify who you are.
3. Watch the U Consent video and confirm you have watched the video.
4. Then, tell us your preference on whether UCLA Health can use your leftover biological samples for research and how you want to participate.

*Leftover biological samples – blood, urine, saliva, or other tissues.